

Amelia Su

Amelia Hideko Su

Encinitas, CA

Phone: (760) 907-8841 Email: suameliashideko@gmail.com

Education

College:

UCLA
Public Health, BA
Food Studies Minor

Graduation Date:

June 2026

Skills

Food Editing/Writing,
Creative Problem
Solving, Proficient in
Microsoft Office Suite,
Google G Suite

Los Angeles Magazine Editorial Intern

June 2025 - Present

- Responsible for correspondence with article sources; gathers quotes, art, etc.
- Drafts articles via Tempest Say Media platform, publishing ~3 articles per week
- Reports on Food, News/Politics, Local L.A. News
- Works with Editor in Chief, VP of Digital

Mochi Magazine Editorial Intern

June 2025 - Present

- Asian American Women's Publication; supports mission to amplify Asian Voices
- Chosen as one of five summer editorial interns, to publish four articles (~1500 words each) over course of internship
- Coordinates, schedules, and interviews experts, gathering quotes to implement into pieces
- Recently completed article on family recipes and Asian American food tradition (currently in copywriting, to be published online)
- Attends bi-monthly intern meetings with various guest speakers within the field of journalism including; Laura Sirikul: freelance journalist, Stephanie Wu: editor-in-chief at EATER

Lotus Magazine Staff Writer

May 2025 - Present

- Part of Women-led AAPI Lifestyle Magazine serving the San Diego, CA AAPI community
- Collaborates with other staff writers, brainstorms and drafts food pieces for quarterly issues
- Interviewed Chef Tara Monsod -- two-time James Beard Nominee -- for piece on fusion cuisine (to be published in upcoming Summer 2025 issue)

Medium

2023 - 2024

- Researched, drafted, and published articles pertaining to food and culture
- Developed opinion piece on Hawaiian food staple SPAM musubi, Japanese persecution during WWII, and personal experience as Asian American
- Recipe tested and developed scallion pancake recipe with detailed instruction and explanation of gluten development and denaturing proteins

University Clubs/Extracurriculars

2024-2025 School Year

- Volunteered with UCLA Bruin Dine; distributed leftover dining hall food to battle food insecurity and edible food waste
- Published an article on Spoon University, student-run food publication, highlighting a matcha pop up that occurred in Westwood Village, UCLA's college town

Links To Published Articles:

L.A. Magazine:

<https://lamag.com/author/amelia-su>

Medium:

<https://medium.com/@suameliashideko>

Spoon University:

<https://spoonuniversity.com/school/ucla/i-went-to-the-junbixmiffy-collaboration-and-heres-what-i-thought/>